

CHARLIE COOK

Editor and Publisher of The Cook Political Report
Political Analyst for the National Journal

Charlie Cook is the editor and publisher of the Cook Political Report, an independent and non-partisan political newsletter he founded in 1984, that analyzes U.S. elections and political trends.

Starting in 1986, Charlie wrote a first weekly, then twice weekly, column for Roll Call, the original newspaper of Capitol Hill and since 1998, for the National Journal. Over the years, Charlie has served as a political analyst for CNN, later CBS and most recently for NBC News. He has worked many election nights on the Decision Desk at NBC News in New York, and has appeared over a dozen times on NBC's Meet the Press.

In recent years, Charlie has contributed to several editions of The Almanac of American Politics and was co-author of its 2020 Almanac.

The Cook Political Report, with a staff of six, has been called "the Bible of the political community" by former CBS News anchor Bob Schieffer and by the New York Times, "a newsletter that both parties see as authoritative."

Updated RL 11/11/2020